5 Why was the number 1600 chosen?

- French sculptor Paulo Grangeon's long-running traveling exhibit, Pandas on Tour, features 1600 papier-maché pandas.
- Launched in 2008 in collaboration with the World Wildlife Fund, Grangeon's project has traveled to landmarks in more than 20 countries, including the Eiffel Tower.
- This June marks its first foray into Hong Kong, where the pandas will visit such hotspots as Hong Kong International Airport and the Tian Tan Buddha on Lantau Island.

Only 1 600 pandas remain

- A 4-year survey was completed in 2004 and counted 1,600 pandas in the wild.
- After being asked by the WWF, Grangenon created the 1,600 pandas from recycled paper - to represent the actual amount of real pandas left in the world.
